Low Carbon Asia Research Network (LoCARNet)

LoCARNet is a network of researchers that facilitates the formulation and implementation of science-based policies for low-carbon development in the Asian region. The establishment of the network was announced on 14 April 2012, at a side event entitled, “East Asia Knowledge Platform for Low Carbon Growth”, sponsored by the three institutes/organisations of NIES, JICA and IGES. The aim of the LoCARNet is to facilitate science-based policy in order to realise a sustainable future based on a stabilised climate. To this end, the network will work to establish research capacity in the region based on South-South-North Cooperation, and to reflect research findings onto actual policy to achieve low-carbon growth.

The Secretariat of LoCARNet would like to create database that can be functioned as a platform to exchange various knowledge amongst researchers and relevant stakeholders. If you agree to become a member, please submit this sheet at the registration desk in the venue. There is no obligation to register to LoCARNet as the secretariat hopes to enhance an open knowledge-sharing forum through the database. Alternatively, please send an email to the following email address for your registration: LoCARNet Secretariat: lsrnet@iges.or.jp
